The image shows a large grid of Chinese characters, primarily the character '熙' (xī), arranged in 10 rows and 10 columns. The first column contains the radical '丶' (dot). The second column contains the character '熙' (xī). The third column contains '熙熙' (xī xī). The fourth column contains '熙' (xī). This pattern repeats across the grid. The characters are rendered in a light gray color, set against a white background with thin black outlines for each cell. The overall layout is organized and repetitive, designed for handwriting practice.
